

CONNECTING FAMILIES THROUGH THE POWER OF OUR STORIES

When the joys of Judaism—the rituals, the stories, and the values—are brought to life, children develop strong Jewish identities and connections to their community. PJ Library is a national program of the Harold Grinspoon Foundation that offers families opportunities to do just that—and so much more.

"PJ Library programs have provided my family opportunities to attend Jewish programming without a formal organizational commitment. And my children read the books over and over again! My youngest will sit on her Bubbe's lap for an hour with a PJ Library book, peppering her with questions about the holidays and traditions they describe."

Free monthly PJ books for children ages 0-9 expand Jewish cultural understanding and foster strong bonds for families across generations.	Kids ages 9 to 12 choose their own book each month. Programming for this group includes a newly launched Israeli Culture Club to strengthen Tweens' connection to Israel.	JBaby helps expecting parents create a nurturing Jewish community by connecting families to each other, to specialists for advice, and to local Jewish community resources.	PJ Connectors host hyperlocal neighborhood events so families can meet each other and expand their community. Through larger partnerships PJ Library connects the Jewish community across the city.	PJ families can access free resources like recipes, downloadable activities, videos, and even podcasts! PJ Library Atlanta collects gently used books and offers them to community educators at no cost.

RESPONDING TO COMMUNITY NEED

- PJ Library gives Jewish families a space for connection and community building.
- PJ Library supports families in their Jewish journey by providing resources for education.
- At the outbreak of the war in Israel, immediately responded by hosting support sessions for parents of young children and delivered welcome bags for Israeli families newly arrived in Atlanta, with books in Hebrew and English
- PJ Library expanded Connectors programs to bring Jewish life to more neighborhoods across Atlanta.
- JBaby addresses the needs of new parents, giving them space and place for friendship, learning and connection.

EXPANDING THE WHOLE FAMILY'S JEWISH EDUCATION

When Danielle first met her boyfriend, he was very unfamiliar with Judaism. She began a tradition where she would gift him a children's book during the Jewish holidays so he would be able to learn. They knew they would be able to utilize the books later when they had children. Now, her husband uses the PJ Library books that come each month to learn even more alongside their little one and is loving it.
